

JR. HIGH MINISTRY

AUGUST/SEPTEMBER 1995 • $4.95

Tyraine Ragsdale,
a.k.a. Grand Hank self-respect, and Black history. Ragsdale says that rap works because today's kids "eat, drink, and sleep rap. They love rap. It's their voice, the way they communicate." He's talking about all kids, not just minority kids. He believes that rap transcends all cultures.

RAPPING ABOUT SCIENCE

No, rapper Dr. Dre isn't into science. But Tyraine Ragsdale is—with a degree in chemistry and research experience. He uses rap to turn kids on to education, science,